

“Birds, Butterflies, and Landscapes: Spring on the Road”

Presented by Dr. John Thomlinson
Professor, Department of Biology
California State University/Dominguez Hills

For PV/SB Audubon Society
Tuesday, April 18, 2017, 7:00 PM
Madrona Marsh Nature Center, Torrance

John Thomlinson received a sabbatical for Spring 2016 to write a textbook for a class that he teaches at California State University/Dominguez Hills on Landscape Ecology. John decided to write it on the road, traveling through four states and immersing himself in different kinds of landscape to gain different viewpoints. Along the way, he took a little time to observe nature as well. He also took a few photographs. John will present a sampler of the results.
